Basic Graphology Course

In day-to-day life, we come across different personalities such as bubbly or reserved, sensitive or thick-skinned—recognition of the same is inferred from handwriting samples. The Graphologist plays a significant role in revealing the hidden personality characteristics of handwriting or signature by working on its graphics. Other than primary considerations like the general appearance of the writing, there are degree and regularity of slanting, the pressure of upward and downward strokes that reveals the psychological state, and characters of loyalty, integrity, kindness, and many more. This course is beneficial to all those looking to know their inner self and their social circle. It is also applicable to other areas such as medicine, psychology, law, criminology, education, and personnel selection in companies.
